A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on August 25, 2009 has been entered.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 11-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Martek (WO 92/12711 or US 5,550,156)

Martek discloses microbial oil mixtures and uses thereof. On page 4, lines 21-25 the use of the oil for pharmaceutical and cosmetic purposes is mentioned and at line 1 the use of the oil in dietary supplements is suggested. In example 7 an oil combination of fish oil and microbial oil is contemplated for infant formula. The microbial oil was stated to contain 33% ARA. In example 8, Menhaden oil is combined with black current oil and microbial oil. The isolation of the oils in Martek is described as known in the art at the bottom of page 6. So Martek provides evidence that it is known in the art to combine microbial oils with other oils and that it is known to use them in foods. The claims appear to differ from Martek in the method by which the oil was made but the process limitations for preparing the oil are not seen to materially alter the product shown in Martek.

Claims 1-5, 7-10 and 18-23 are allowed.

Applicants' arguments relating to the process claims are persuasive.
